

Educational Game: McDonald's Video Game

The Game

The idea is that you learn all of the aspects to running McDonald's

You first must grow crops to feed your cows and pastures for the cows

Then they must be slaughtered to make burgers

You can choose additives in the food

Then you have to hire people to work in your restaurant

There is a corporate component that does various things

Things I liked

- There were options to corrupt officials
- There were options to target ads to children
- There were options to demolish villages to grow more crops
- There were options to subvert the public against lawsuits
- There was an option to corrupt a local mayor to use public land

Review

- Simple UI
- Options were a bit difficult to understand
- Some buttons were not clearly understood

Final

The game was fun, but in the end it like most educational games are not super fun

