Dear Corvid Recruiting:

I am writing you today in hopes of joining your staff as a Junior Linux Administrator. I learned about your company during a job fair at Clemson University and have been impressed by Corvid's accomplishments. I believe I am uniquely qualified to help continue your companies strive for excellence and I hope this resume reflects that belief.

I recently began my studies at Clemson University in pursuit of achieving a lifelong goal of becoming a computer scientist. I believe my previous military service would be especially valuable to your company. I have not only retained the hard work ethic and dedication to duty instilled in all members of the military, but I have previously held a security clearance which would reduce the cost of obtaining a clearance for the position. I have a background in and deep passion for physics which could be a great addition to your physics related modeling for military ballistics. My technical expertise with building/destroying ordinance would also be of great value in general experience. I've also reached the highest qualification of professional speaking the military has to offer, as a Master Training Specialist I would be well prepared to present and educated new technology to prospective clients.

I would be thrilled to interview for the open position in your company and discuss the ways in which your company and I could benefit from my employment. I can be contacted either by phone at (619) 306-1890 or by email at Jeremy.j.holloway@gmail.com. I appreciate not only your time but consideration for the position.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Holloway
